If electrophoresis were a routine diagnostic test, anemia, diabetes, hypoglycemia, heart disease, liver, lung, and muscle disorders could be detected before they became killers.

The Gelman Digiscreen-C is an electrophoresis computer. Its incredible speed makes mass serum screenings possible.

It is the only high speed, fully automatic electrophoretic scanning densitometer available anywhere in the world. It may soon make the electrophoregram as common a test as the chest X-ray.

For a demonstration, call (area code 313) 665-0651 or write Gelman Instrument Co., Box 1448, Ann Arbor, Michigan 48106.
