Because access to information is probably the single most important tangible factor in your day-to-day professional activities, we think you should know about International Pharmaceutical Abstracts.

International Pharmaceutical Abstracts is the semi-monthly abstract journal that covers all facets of the pharmaceutical and related literature. More than 1,000 pharmacy, medical and health-related publications throughout the world are abstracted for all articles relating to pharmacy or pharmaceuticals.

Each abstract provides a brief presentation of the original article in an informative paragraph style which permits inclusion of all meaningful data. Even the number of references cited in the original article is listed.

A subject index is included as a part of each abstract issue. Cumulative subject and author indexes are published twice yearly. IPA is current awareness and retrospective search between the same covers.

Even if you subscribed to every journal IPA covers (and that's assuming you had the money to buy them, the room to store them, the language abilities to translate them and the time to read them)—chances are IPA is the one you'd keep on your desk.

A year's subscription to IPA consists of 22 indexed abstract issues plus two cumulative index issues.

The annual rate for IPA is $150 for the initial subscription and $30 for each additional subscription sent to the same subscriber and address.

☐ Please enter my initial subscription to IPA @ $150 and ________ additional subscriptions @ $30 each.
