PEARLS OF LABORATORY MEDICINE

Clinical Chemistry Trainee Council (CCTC) is a free online program for residents and fellows in laboratory medicine. The program provides a wealth of free educational materials and interactive tools, including Podcasts, Guide to Scientific Writing, Question Bank, Pearls of Laboratory Medicine, and much more. The Pearls are brief presentations on one key topic succinctly presented using slides, audio, and transcript supplements.

Join the CCTC today (traineecouncil.org) for free access to the following Pearl of Laboratory Medicine. With over 100 Pearls now available, 3 are highlighted here.

ON THE COVER The supersize burger. This image evokes one of two questions: Doesn't that look good? or How many calories are in that thing? The fact that we respond more to the former at an alarming rate is the reason why there is an obesity crisis around the world. Yet, while it is accepted that excessive caloric intake is a relevant factor, the causes of obesity and best strategies to reverse trends in the prevalence of the disease are topics of much debate. Thus, it is timely to devote this special issue of Clinical Chemistry to the problem of obesity and current research to inform strategies for addressing the problem. In addition to issues of relevance to laboratory medicine, the articles in this issue provide an overview of the challenges that obesity presents to the broader scientific community.
